

Capturing History – an Easter Holiday that will be remembered for ever

Try to do one of these activities every day over the Easter holidays.

Remember to keep a record of all these things. You are making history

Make a rainbow of hope message and put in in your window	Make a thank you card or write a letter to someone who is helping others e.g. someone in the NHS	Write a diary entry for today. Say what you have done and what you have thought about	Find out what is happening in 10 different countries in the world with Coronavirus. Collect the statistics. See how things have changed
Interview some members of your family Ask them about their feelings, worries and their moments of happiness during the virus.	Find out about someone in the news linked to Coronavirus. Maybe someone who has helped others.	Make up a cartoon strip. Invent a super hero who can defeat Coronavirus. What magic powers would you give your hero? 	Make a feelings and thoughts feather.
Write a letter or make a card for someone who you are missing. Send it to them virtually or through the post. Try to make them smile.	Make a poster or instruction guide about social distancing. What are people allowed to do? What should people remember to do to keep safe?	Use objects around the house or garden to make a piece of art and a message of hope in the style of Andy Goldsworthy. You could use natural things or objects round the house. Ask your parents to photograph it. 	Design a board game around Covid19 and what is happening. Make sure you include some good things as well as some of the bad events.
Make a timeline of events in the story of Covid19. You could choose to think about England, Europe all the world.	Draw a type of family tree to show all the different groups of your family and where they are living now.	Write a diary entry for someone else. It could be someone in your family or it could be someone in the news or it might be a key worker. Try and imagine how they feel.	Watch a news bulletin. Write a newspaper article for the next day's newspaper. Remember a headline.

Scientists are working really hard to find a cure for Coronavirus. Find out about a scientist that has invented a cure for another disease.	Imagine it is the year 2080 and you are being interviewed about 2020 by your great grandchildren. Write what you would tell them.	Imagine there is a special potion that can defeat Covid19 buried somewhere in the world. Make a treasure map with instructions about where to find it	Design a graffiti wall with a message to everyone.
Look around you. Spring is everywhere. What signs of spring can you see from your window?	Write an acrostic poem. Use the letters C O R O N A V I R U S	. Make a poster about defeating the virus 	Pretend you are a newsreporter. Write a report in 200 words about what is happening in the UK today.
Do something special with your family. It might be a nice meal, a game, a story, a funny time. Write about it and say why it is special.	Remember the story of George's Marvellous Medicine. George sets to work on the medicine at once, adding everything from jujube fruit juice to spices, shoe polish, engine oil, and toothpaste... It has some surprising effects. Invent your own recipe to defeat the Coronavirus. 	Exercise is important because it is important to keep fit when we can't go out. Make up an exercise routine or dance. Can you write it down so someone else can do it.	Use your imagination and invent a Corona monster. You could draw it, model it and describe it. Maybe you could make a wanted poster for it.
